Celcore Incorporated News and Updates

In the coming months, Celcore will be making many announcements concerning new products and product approvals. We have decided to use this format as a way of delivering this information to you, our valued contractors. In addition to our new product and approval announcements, we will also be sending information on many other topics that we feel may benefit Celcore and you. Please take advantage of these Newsletters by saving or printing them, and of course, should you have any questions or comments, please do not hesitate to contact our office.

Brochure with Annotations to Aid in the Digital Submittal Process

As the submittal process has become more digital, Celcore has frequently been asked to provide our brochure in a format that will allow the user the ability to make notations. Please review and save the attached brochure for your later use. The annotation feature has been enabled which will allow you to highlight specific information and add notes. Many contractors have found this version of our Celcore Roof Deck Insulation brochure extremely helpful when preparing submittals.

Celcore is very excited about the announcements that we will making in the very near future. We have new products and product approvals that will address the challenges confronting the ever changing marketplace of our industry.

We also want to continue to be a resource to you, therefore please do not hesitate to suggest any topic you feel could benefit other approved contractors, the industry and Celcore.

Should you believe that other colleagues, such as Architects, Engineers, other specifiers, roofing contractors, owners or suppliers could benefit from receiving this information, please feel free to share this Newsletter and encourage them to sign up for future emails using the links below. In the meantime, please keep an eye out for our next update.

Sincerely,

Travis Morton
